Subject: Center for Learning and Teaching

Dear Dr. Porter:

This is in response to your March 31, 1989 letter inquiring about the status of the Center for Teaching and Learning at Eastern.

As you know, Eastern's faculty and staff spent an enormous amount of time discussing the value of this Center and planning for its success. Unfortunately, this year's budget constraints convinced us that it would be a mistake to set in motion this important activity with minimal resources. Our decision to postpone the implementation of the Center in no way signifies that our interest in the project has waned. We truly hope that very soon we will be in a position to make the required allocation to have a successful Center. Therefore, we see no need to repeal the BOT resolution establishing this Center.

Sincerely,

Dear Dave:

Can you tell me what is the current status of the Center for Learning and Teaching at Eastern. Is the Center in operation? If not, should we repeal the resolution establishing it?

Sincerely,

Thomas A. Porter
